

Tim Maynard

Vice President, Corporate Development

Tim Maynard is the Vice President of Corporate Development and reports directly to Steve LeClair, President and CEO.

Tim leads the company's M&A function, including pipeline development, strategic evaluation, deal structure, valuation, due diligence and negotiation.

Tim joined Core & Main in September 2017 following his most recent position as Vice President of Corporate Development for FEI Company, a leading global manufacturer and provider of hardware and software for electron, ion and light microscopy for the sciences, electronics and natural resources markets.

Prior to FEI, Tim served three years as the Vice President of Corporate Development for Sigma Aldrich, a $3 billion chemical, life science and biotechnology company in St. Louis. Earlier in his career, Tim held a similar corporate development role with Thermo Fisher Scientific in Waltham, MA.

Tim's considerable experience includes a large body of transactions among diverse industries and geographies, with an aggregate transaction value of approximately $30 billion.

Tim holds a B.S. in Business Administration from Bryant College in Smithfield, RI and earned his M.B.A. from Babson College in Wellesley, MA.
